

Mizuki Watanabe is a M.S. student in Graduate School of Information Sciences and Arts, Toyo University. She received the B.S. degree in informatics from Toyo University (2021). Her research is including the area of social networking system and media design.

Takayuki Fujimoto is a professor in Faculty of Information Sciences and Arts, Toyo University. In addition to being a scholar, he is a graphic designer and creative director. He got his Ph.D. from Yamagata University and got his master's degree of knowledge science from Japan Advanced Institute of Science and Technology (JAIST) and got his bachelor of education from Waseda University. His research is including the area of computer science and information design, cultural studies. He is a member of IEEE, and several others.